[Lore] You have your own personal bot that you can place near a lane or a jungle to influence the game. Each bot has its own set of commands that make it unique and can be customized. When playing a game, you can select and disable your bot. It can be helpful for saving time and energy while playing. Gameplay Features A bot lane is a lane with a bot in it. When you have a bot in your lane you can select commands for the bot to use on the enemy. Your bot can be customized to your style of play. You can select from about 20 different bot commands, ranging from killing enemy champions to initiating a skill combo, to what happens when you die. You can pick any hero you want and place your own bot near that hero to be controlled. The only difference is that your bot won't be as strong as a full bot, but it will still do its job. You can enable or disable your bot when you are playing. You can also choose to pause the game. Customization Every bot has its own unique commands and can be customized to your playstyle. When you start a game you'll be able to pick any bot for free. There is also a "premium" bot available for purchase. You can choose between a name and a color for your bot.
